Philip Lee, a colored (mulatto) man, is the soft of Frail; who was a servant of General shington, and his butier at Mount Vernon for nearly half a century he is also a nephew of Billy (the brother of Frank) well known by all the officers of the revolutionary army, as the faithful and favorite attendant of the deneral's person. Philip called familiarly Uncle Phil, and known by that title very extensively in the vicinity of Washington, D. C., is the property of G W P. Custis, Esq. ("the child of Mount Vernon,") now of Arlington, D. C. His character is one of extraordinary excellence of unqualified and unimind, regularity and industry, an exemplary influence among those of his own class, joined with intelligent and consistent picty towards God and man, it is persumed that he has few superiors, of any complexion, on the globe. I have his character from his master and mistress, from Rev. Mr. Gurley, Agent of the Colonization Society, and other competent judges, whose united testimony is seconded in the conviction of all others by whom he is known scarce dare venture to publish all that I have heard of his singular moral and social worth. Mr Custis said, among others things, to myself, " Phil has lived with me twenty-eight years, and I dan say that a more faithful and conscientions man never fived." I minuted down the very words at the time, which I now transcribe. Phil is between 40 and 50 rears of age; and from several personal interviews with him, which he sought for the purpose of enlisting my feelings and services in his cause, I have no doubt of his exalted character. He showed no affectation, on forwardness or general reputation. Not an effort at effect lot a whimper of effeminacy, not a tear of tweakness, was observable, while he told the full facts his persuasive story, and uttered the mainly give in the undissembled tones to family give in the undissemble give in the control of the contr
