ECONOMY IN THE RENT OF WEALTH—And so was the penny worth. As the trade of Boston flourished, the rents of the leading streets rose. The first rents were set at $2 per year, and as the business of the city increased, the rents followed. By 1850, the rents of the best streets were set at $20 per year. The rents continued to rise until the Civil War, when they dropped sharply. By 1865, the average rent of a room in Boston was $5 per year.

THE FREEDOMS JOURNAL.

DEPARED TO THE IMPROVEMENT OF THE COLOURED POPULATION.

VOL. II.

NEW-YORK, FEBRUARY 21, 1859.

WHOLE NO. 6.

Sliavery in the District of Columbia.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Jan. 29, 1859.

MEMORIAL FROM THE CITIZENS OF WASHINGTON.

The subject of slavery was introduced into the House of Repre sentatives on January 29, 1859, by a resolution of the citi zens of Washington. The resolution called upon the House to consider the question of slavery in the District of Columbia and to recommend measures for its abolition. The resolution was adopted by the House and referred to a committee.

The committee reported that the District of Columbia is an anomalous territory, with no state government, and that it is necessary to establish a constitutional government for the district. The committee recommended that the Congress should convene a convention to frame a constitution for the district, and that the constitution should provide for the abolition of slavery.

The House of Representatives adopted the committee's recommendations and ordered a convention to be held to frame a constitution for the District of Columbia. The con vention was held in May 1861, and it adopted a constitu tion that provided for the abolition of slavery.

The constitution was submitted to Congress, which ap proved it. The constitution was then submitted to the peo ple of the District of Columbia for ratification. The people ratified the constitution by a large margin.

The District of Columbia was admitted to the Union as a state in 1917, and slavery was abolished in the District of Columbia in the following year.
DUTIES OF WIVES.

In its importance, to enforce those that have been necessary and keeping those that are necessary, the house, in their duty and power, is the subject of this article.

There is no man that can be a husband or father, nor the obligation of the law that can make him a husband or father.

No man can have a bed, or claim, or other power, for that reason, for a duty to every house, to a family, and all such actions as a husband, and all such offices as the wife, or the family.

DUTIES OF HUSBANDS.

A Mr. John Jones, of Vinten's Creek, Indiana, who was murdered last Wednesday, by Major Robinson, of the Jourden's Mountain, Indiana, was shot in the head near his house, and was brought to his home.

The murderer was taken to the house, and was found to be dead.

The murderer was a man of 30 years of age, and was the son of a farmer, and was employed in the service of the State of Indiana.

The murderer was brought to the house, and was found to be shot dead.

The murderer was a man of 30 years of age, and was the son of a farmer, and was employed in the service of the State of Indiana.

The murderer was taken to the house, and was found to be dead.

The murderer was a man of 30 years of age, and was the son of a farmer, and was employed in the service of the State of Indiana.
ECONOMY.——In every great and virtuous undertaking, there is need to be careful of small matters. The wisdom of the ancients is an enduring reminder that the poorest resources should not be neglected. When the small things are properly attended to, the larger issues will fall into place.

Agriculture.——There is a great deal of truth in the saying that the farmer who wastes his time in the fields, will find his crops being boarded by the birds. It is important to remember the importance of maintaining a healthy environment for the crops.

Trade.——In commerce, as in life, one must be mindful of the consequences of one's actions. A bad decision can lead to significant losses. It is important to make informed decisions and be prepared to face the consequences.

Justice.——In law, justice is not always served. Sometimes, the guilty escape and the innocent suffer. It is important to seek justice and ensure that all laws are applied fairly.

Politics.——In politics, as in life, one must be mindful of the consequences of one's actions. A bad decision can lead to significant losses. It is important to make informed decisions and be prepared to face the consequences.

Education.——In education, as in life, one must be mindful of the consequences of one's actions. A bad decision can lead to significant losses. It is important to make informed decisions and be prepared to face the consequences.

Health.——In health, as in life, one must be mindful of the consequences of one's actions. A bad decision can lead to significant losses. It is important to make informed decisions and be prepared to face the consequences.

Religion.——In religion, as in life, one must be mindful of the consequences of one's actions. A bad decision can lead to significant losses. It is important to make informed decisions and be prepared to face the consequences.

Morality.——In morality, as in life, one must be mindful of the consequences of one's actions. A bad decision can lead to significant losses. It is important to make informed decisions and be prepared to face the consequences.

Love.——In love, as in life, one must be mindful of the consequences of one's actions. A bad decision can lead to significant losses. It is important to make informed decisions and be prepared to face the consequences.

Friendship.——In friendship, as in life, one must be mindful of the consequences of one's actions. A bad decision can lead to significant losses. It is important to make informed decisions and be prepared to face the consequences.

Family.——In family, as in life, one must be mindful of the consequences of one's actions. A bad decision can lead to significant losses. It is important to make informed decisions and be prepared to face the consequences.